Chadd Charland

Chadd Charland has lived in Fernandina Beach with his wife, Kristi Dosh, since 2012. He worked in sports media for 25 years before leaving the industry in January of 2021 to focus on his freelance arts and travel writing and to pursue his passion for conservation. He also serves as the Conservation Chair for the Florida Native Plant Society Ixia Chapter and is a board member of the North Florida Land Trust's "Amelia Forever" campaign.

You can hear Chadd's conservation-focused podcast with New York Times best-selling author and Florida environmental reporter Craig Pittman each week by searching "Welcome to Florida" wherever you listen to podcasts.
